The Republican State Ticket,

WHEELING, W. VA., June 6, '68.

The Republican party of this State held, a few days since, a convention at Clarksburg, for the nomination of a State ticket. Two of the three congressional districts made nominations for Congress, at the same time and place. Hon. W. E. Stevenson, of Wood county, now President of the State Senate, was nominated for Governor, having no competitor. Mr. Stevenson is a fair representative of his party. He is a self-made, self-relant man, who with limited opportunities has achieved a character honorable to himself and the State. If his party is discreet, his services are likely to be retained as long as he is willing to tender them. He took an active and useful part in the organization of the restored government in the payment of the salary of the Altororney General for the present year, this appropriation having been omitted in the general act last winter.

By Mr. Farnsworth: Providing that actions of trespass against rebels for acts committed or property taken during the war, or property taken during the line between the counties of Boone and Lincoln.

By Mr. Workman: Providing for changing the line between the counties of Boone and Lincoln.

By Mr. Burley: Authorizing town ships to subscribe to the capital stock of the Covingtion introduced the following, which, under a suspension of the rules, was adopted:

WHEREAS, This is the anniversary of the Reorganized Government of Virginia, which absolved us from the tyrrany and oppression—of the East, and gave us a liberal, republican was the neceleus around which the loyal men of Virginia rallied, and was the neceleus around which the loyal men of Virginia loyalists which assembled at Wheeling on the 11th day of June, 1861, and that this state owes adobt of gratitude to the brave and patriotic Union men who engaged in and worked out to a successful issue the problem involved in the recipanization of Virginia, and that their names ought to be held in grateful and worked out to a successful saue the problem involved in the recipanization of the Virginia should have fellowed the state. Animals that Chew the Cub.—Ruminating animals gather their food rapidly, give it a few cuts with the teeth, and swallow it. It goes to an interior receptacle where it is moistened; this is essential if it be hay. When the animal has filled himself, he masticates the food thus stowed away in his stomach, raising it cud by cud. When a portion is completely masticated it passes to another receptacle, and the progress of digestion goes on. Thus an ox, if left to himself, will raise and masticate all his food thus stowed away in his stomach. If he be pushed and worked hard, and does not have time to masticate, he falls off in flesh, his health is poor, bis digestion incomplete. The norse, on the contrary, however much in a hurry he may be, must masticate each mouthful before he swallows it. A hungry ox let into a meadow will fill himself in twenty minutes, while a horse would want at least an hour and twenty minutes to take the same amount of grass. The ox, deer, sheep, goat, chamois and rabbit, being the natural prey of ferocious beasts, are endowed with the extra stomach in which hastily to stow away the food without mastication. This may perhaps be regarded as a wise provision of nature, enabling them to sally forth where the food is plenty, and in a short time fill themselves and retire to a place of safety to ruminate their food at their leisure.

HOUSE.

Mr. Marshall sent to the clerk's desk and had read a letter from Mr. Mer-rick, counsel for Woolley, the recreant witness, referring to a statement made the other day by Mr. Butler, to effect that he (Butler) was in possession of telegram after telegram passing between Merrick, Woolley and Warden, the President's short-hand writer. Merrick denies in positive terms that had taken place.

Mr. Ingersoil reported a bill recognizing the lease recently made of the Alexandria canal and acqueduct, and authorizing the operation of a railroad between Georgetown and Alexandria, on the line of the acqueduct and canal. The Speaker presented a message from the President, communicating information in reterence to the recent treaty for the Osage Indian lands in Kansas.

Indian Affairs, with power to send for persons and papers.
On motion of Mr. Eliot, the bill to promote American commerce was postponed until Wednesday next.
The House went into Committee of the Whole on the tax bill.

Resolved, That Chas. W. Woolley having appeared before the Committee of Investigation and answered all the questions put to him by the Committee, and thus purged himself of his contempt of the House in that regard, be discharged from arrest and held only to appear and make further answer if required, according to the summons.

Mr. Butler added that witness had answered fully and distinctly every question that had been put to him, and there seemed in the judgment of the Committee no further reason for keeping him in arrest and his attendance sition was now being matured which, if perfected, would save very much be dispensed with and the Committee continue its sessions till five o'clock. Mr. Schenck urged the continuance of the session till half-past five, Mr. Garfield then insisted on the single motion that the evening session be dispensed with, and the motion was agreed to.

Mr. Garfield then moved to go into Committee of the Whole, remarking that the Committee might continue in ession as long as it chose. He had the Committee of Ways and Means. On motion of Mr. Beaman the Senate amendments to admit the of North Carolina, South Carolina, Louisiana, Georgia and Alabama to representation in Congress were taken from the Speaker's table and referred to the Committee on Reconstruction.
